

After completing his Bachelor of Nursing, Cavin enrolled in the 2005 Mater Children's Hospital Graduate Nurse Program.

“ A year has gone by and I'm now nursing in one of Queensland's busiest emergency departments for children, learning new things every day, being constantly challenged and caring for some really complex patients. The confidence I have gained to be able to work alongside experienced colleagues in this department has come from an excellent graduate program.

Paediatric nursing is a specialised field and the Mater's program has been designed to reflect that. Centered on evidence-based practices the program allows you to consolidate on nursing skills already learnt, equips you with new paediatric specific skills, and promotes an environment that enables you to work safely and competently with children. The Mater's focus on education and teaching and the incorporation of Mater values within practice, makes expertise easily accessible and learning a pleasure. I found staff across all disciplines eager to share their knowledge, offer their support and help me achieve my goals. I'm sure that like me, you'll get everything you want from this program and a whole lot more.

Exceptional People. Exceptional Care.
